The book is written by award-winning author and photographer Grant Faulkner, who spent two years following Home Place and its handlers. Faulkner captures the horse's daily life in stunning photographs, and he tells the story of Home Place's journey from a wild mustang to a beloved member of the Canadian Mounted Police.

Home Place is a truly unique horse. She is the only horse in the world that is trained to work with the Canadian Mounted Police. Home Place is used for ceremonial duties, such as escorting the Governor General and the Prime Minister. She also helps to train new RCMP officers.

Home Place is a remarkable horse, and her story is one that will inspire readers of all ages. Home Place is a testament to the power of the human-animal bond, and it is a reminder that anything is possible with hard work and dedication.
