One of the best ways to experience Canada's beauty and history is by cruising its waterways. A cruise along the St. Lawrence River, for example, will take you past some of the country's most iconic landmarks, including the CN Tower, the Parliament Buildings, and the Old Port of Montreal.

Or, you can cruise the Inside Passage along the coast of British Columbia, where you'll see towering mountains, glaciers, and whales. No matter which route you choose, you're sure to have a memorable experience.

And, if you're a history buff, you'll be in for a real treat. Canada has a long and fascinating history, and there are many historical sites to explore along its waterways. You can visit the site of the Battle of the Plains of Abraham, where the British defeated the French in 1759. Or, you can visit the Fortress of Louisbourg, a 17th-century French fortress that was once the capital of New France.

No matter what your interests are, a cruise along Canada's waterways is sure to be a rewarding experience. You'll see some of the country's most beautiful scenery, learn about its rich history, and make memories that will last a lifetime.

The St. Lawrence River is home to a population of beluga whales, and the Inside Passage is home to a variety of marine mammals, including humpback whales, orcas, and sea lions.

By cruising Canada's waterways, you'll not only get to experience the country's beauty and history, but you'll also help to protect its wildlife. A portion of the proceeds from every cruise goes to support conservation efforts.
