Thematic Threads: Exploring the Human Tapestry

Throughout the collection, several recurring themes emerge, weaving a cohesive narrative that speaks to the complexities of the human condition.

Longing and Loss: Howell explores the bittersweet pangs of longing and the profound pain of loss with raw honesty and poignant imagery. In poems such as "The Lost City" and "The Mapmaker's Lament," he captures the haunting emptiness left in the wake of absence, leaving readers with a sense of deep melancholy.

Love and Redemption: Balanced against the somber undercurrents of longing and loss is the transformative power of love and the possibility of redemption. In poems like "Song for a New Day" and "The Alchemy of Grace," Howell celebrates the resilience of the human spirit and the transformative capacity of love to heal wounds and ignite hope.

The Power of Memory and Time: Memory and time play pivotal roles in Spit Sticks Chimney Full of Swifts. Howell deftly uses poetic devices such as flashbacks and fragmented narratives to explore the intricate ways in which past experiences shape our present and future. In poems such as "The History of Rain" and "The Book of Days," he examines the fluidity of time and the lasting impact of memories that both haunt and inspire us.

Poetic Style: A Symphony of Language

Howell's mastery of poetic form and language is evident throughout the collection. He employs a wide range of poetic techniques, including free verse, sonnets, and lyrical ballads, to create a diverse and engaging reading experience.

His use of vivid imagery and evocative language creates a sensory feast for readers, immersing them in the emotional landscapes of his poems. In "The Firebird," for instance, he paints a vivid picture of a mythical creature using metaphors and similes that evoke both wonder and a sense of danger.

Howell's keen attention to rhythm and rhyme adds a musicality to his poems that enhances their emotional impact. In "The Swimmer," for example, the gentle flow of the language mimics the graceful movements of the swimmer, creating a harmonious interplay between sound and meaning.
